

CONTRIBUTORS

Simone Wallon is a teacher and research scholar in the field of Gregorian chant. She is associated with the Ward Method, and each year she forms part of the faculty of the Gregorian courses held at LeMans in France.

J. Vincent Higginson is well known for his research in American hymnology, having published his Handbook for American Catholic Hymnals. He was editor of The Catholic Choirmaster and has several compositions and arrangements of choral music to his credit. Pope Paul VI made him a Knight of St. Gregory for his life-long service to the Church in the area of sacred music. He is one of the founding members of the Church Music Association of America.

Aldo Bartocci is secretary of the Pontifical Institute of Sacred Music in Rome. American students at the papal church music school long remember him for his kindnesses to them in all academic procedures. During his tenure he has known most of the great teachers and composers associated with the institute.
